

Structured Tag Lab Journal Entry

Robert Boyd CSCI N343

What I learned

- I need to pay attention to and be careful with tag hierarchy. I spent over an hour trying to get some margins to line up; turns out I had some low level tag overwriting a higher level tag.
- Inheritance is the easiest way to tier styles.
- The canvas tag is all powerful and super cool, I would like to play with gaming functionality and the HTML5 canvas tag
- I re-learned the difference between marking up pre-defined tags and custom class tags.

Symantics Symantics Symantics!

- I am a fairly experienced php developer but not a css expert and I learned that my familiarity with php is not necessarily an advantage when manipulating css.